The Seven Principles of Cooperation & Values

1. Voluntary and Open Membership

Co-operatives are voluntary organizations, open to all persons able to use their services and willing to accept the responsibilities of membership, without gender, social, racial, political, or religious discrimination.

2. Democratic Member Control

Co-operatives are democratic organizations controlled by their members, who actively participate in setting their policies and making decisions. People serving as elected representatives are accountable to the membership. In primary co-operatives, members have equal voting rights (one member, one vote) and co-operatives at other levels are organized in a democratic manner.

3. Member Economic Participation

Members contribute equitably to, and democratically control, the capital of their co-operative. At least part of that capital is usually the common property of the co-operative. They usually receive limited compensation, if any, on capital subscribed as a condition of membership. Members allocate surpluses for any or all of the following purposes: developing the co-operative, possibly by setting up reserves, part of which at least would be indivisible; benefiting members in proportion to their transactions with the co-operative; and supporting other activities approved by the membership.

4. Autonomy and Independence

Co-operatives are autonomous, self-help organizations controlled by their members. If they enter into agreements with other organizations, including governments, or raise capital from external sources, they do so on terms that ensure democratic control by their members and maintain their cooperative autonomy.

5. Education, Training, and Information

Co-operatives provide education and training for their members, elected representatives, managers, and employees so they can contribute effectively to the development of their co-operatives. They inform the general public - particularly young people and opinion leaders - about the nature and benefits of co-operation.

6. Co-Operation Among Co-Operatives

Co-operatives serve their members most effectively and strengthen the co-operative movement by working together through local, national, regional, and international structures.

7. Concern for Community

While focusing on member needs, co-operatives work for the sustainable development of their communities through policies accepted by their members.

Cooperative Values

Basic cooperative values are general norms that cooperators, cooperative leaders and cooperative staff should share; the values should determine their way of thinking and acting. This list of ten values was proclaimed by the International Co-operative Alliance in 1995.

Self-help	Self-responsibility	Democracy
Equality	Equity	Openness
Solidarity	Honesty	Caring for other
Social Responsibility

Frequently asked questions for prospective candidates

What is the Board of Directors and what does it do?

The Board of Directors is the governing body for the Owners of the Ypsilanti Food Co-op. It is composed of seven people, all Owners of the Ypsilanti Food Co-op, elected by Owners. All Directors represent the Ownership at large rather than any special subgroup. Terms for Directors are two years, unless a seat is vacated early and a new candidate is elected.

The Board is responsible for ensuring organizational performance on behalf of all of the Ypsilanti Food Co-op's Owners. This work includes developing clearly stated expectations through written policies; delegating responsibility for, and authority over, the achievement of stated objectives; and monitoring compliance with written policies.

As Will Rogers said, "Even though you are on the right track - you will get run over if you just sit there." The Board of the Ypsilanti Food Co-op should be strategic and visionary with its view toward the future of our cooperative, rather than focusing solely on the short-term. The current Board has been focusing on three big questions, which reflect our current "Ends Policies" (see page 6):

- How can the Ypsilanti Food Co-op create a community centered on hospitality, kindness and generosity?
- How can the Ypsilanti Food Co-op support a robust cooperative economy?
- How can the Ypsilanti Food Co-op facilitate Ypsilanti's access to sustainable, healthy food?

By devoting time to focus on the big-picture vision of the Ypsilanti Food Co-op, the Board will ensure that we adequately position our organization for the maximum benefit of our Owners, as well as anticipate trends and values, which may have a critical impact on our relevance and survival.

The Board governs the organization and delegates all operational duties to one employee, the General Manager, currently Corinne Sikorski. We are involved in strategic planning, financial oversight, Ownership linkage, and community outreach.

What does the Board of Directors NOT do?

The Board of Directors does not make decisions about, become involved with, or take part in any of the day-to-day activities or decisions regarding the operation of the Ypsilanti Food Co-op. The Board's sole official connection to the operations of the cooperative is through the General Manager.

What are the requirements for running?

Directors must be Owners of the Ypsilanti Food Co-op in good standing. They should not have any substantial conflict of interest resulting from an affiliation with any person, organization or enterprise that is in opposition or competition with the Co-op. To apply, Directors must sign a Statement of Agreement and publicly disclose any potential conflicts of interest. As for personal qualifications, Board experience is helpful, but not a prerequisite for Directorship. More important are: willingness to work closely and cooperatively with the other Directors; commitment to providing the time and energy necessary to accomplish the Board's objectives and fulfill the required term; the ability to learn quickly; and organizational skills.

How much time would I need to put into serving?

The Board holds one regular meeting for 2 1/2 hours each month, at which attendance is expected. Beyond this regular meeting, the time commitment for a Director typically averages out to an additional two to three hours per week, including preparation for regular monthly meetings as well as specially-called Board meetings, and participation on committees. In addition, the Board holds a mandatory orientation session prior to elections, providing basic training and giving Directors a chance to get to know each other better and form working relationships.

What compensation is there for serving?

Each Director receives a 12% store discount.

I'm sure I have the time to commit, and I want to serve the Ypsilanti Food Co-op; how else can I make up my mind whether or not to run?

You may obtain additional information about serving on the Board of Directors by talking to a member of the Nominations Committee or any of the current Directors to get a personal perspective of what service on the Ypsilanti Food Co-op Board of Directors is all about.

Owners are always welcome to attend the meetings of the Board of Directors, which are once per month. You can see how the Board functions and meet the current Directors. You may gain useful perspectives on the issues currently facing the Ypsilanti Food Co-op. Additionally, the Board meeting minutes are available in our Governance Binder which is available at the check-out counter.

When will elections be held?

The annual election begins in the spring after the Board calls for a Co-op Vote. Voting lasts for 10 days and concludes with a Co-op Vote Confirmation Meeting open to the Ownership. The 2019 election will begin on May 14 and the last day of voting will be May 23, 2019.

OK, I've decided to run - now what?

To help the Ownership make an informed decision regarding the Directors they elect, we ask you to fill out the Board Candidate Application included in this packet. Please email your completed application back to the Nominations Committee at board@ypsifoodcoop.org by April 10, 2019 at 5 pm. Your personal statement/bio, answers to the essay questions (see page 9), and a photograph of yourself will be published online, and through other avenues.

It sounds like a big step!

And worthwhile! As a cooperative, YFC is only as strong as its Ownership. The Board traditionally has been a diverse group of people with a wide range of skills who have brought the store to where it is today – 44 years serving the Ypsilanti community as a vibrant organization that benefits our Owners!

Policy Governance

The Ypsilanti Food Co-op Board operates using the Policy Governance model, which was developed to allow Boards to maintain accountability for organizational performance while focusing on providing visionary leadership around our 'big-picture' mission. With the recognition that delegation is a significant component of our accountability, the Board maintains written documentation of expectations for us, our organization, and our General Manager. Our policies are the primary vehicle for recording these expectations, and they are monitored on a regular basis.

The relevance of this methodology stems from (1) the fact that a significant volume of information is required to fulfill our fiduciary duties; (2) the need to delegate authority in order to accomplish our organizational purpose; (3) the desire to ensure that our Owners and stakeholders are well-served by organizational accomplishments.

The Policy Governance model is designed to allow the Board to delegate with great clarity by completing three steps:

1. Expressing the expectations of the job being delegated.
2. Assigning the expectations with no ambiguity to the party who is to be held accountable for meeting them.
3. Checking that expectations were met.

We have four general categories of policies that express our expectations for ends to be achieved and the acceptable means by which to achieve them:

A – Ends

Our Ends Statement broadly state the desired organizational outcomes. They describe the ongoing priorities of what should be achieved and for whom. The GM is responsible for reporting on compliance with these policies once a year.

B – Board Process

The 'B' policies describe how the Board is organized and its process and products. The Board evaluates its compliance with these policies throughout the year.

C – Governance-Management Connection

These Board-GM policies describe how the Board delegates to our sole employee, the GM. The Board evaluates its compliance with these policies throughout the year.

D – Executive Limitations

The Executive Limitations delineate job expectations and acceptable constraints within which the GM can act. The GM develops a written report for the Board on each of these policies on a regular basis throughout the year, and the Board evaluates whether the interpretation was reasonable, and makes conclusions about whether the GM is in compliance. If it is determined that we are not in compliance with our policies, the Board discusses the reasons for this result and establishes parameters and expectations for achieving compliance within a set time frame. The Board may require additional monitoring of the policy (on a more frequent basis) or even conclude that the policy needs to be revised.

Our approach to crafting policies is to begin with broad statements regarding allowable and prohibited behavior, and make increasingly specific policies. For example, a policy that prohibits the GM from violating the law provides a concise statement of expectation (and is a lot easier than trying to think of and then write down a list of all the illegal actions which could be undertaken!). A more specific policy might require that a certain level of insurance be carried to protect the Ypsilanti Food Co-op's property. We limit the level of detail in our written policies to that which is required for the Board to accept any reasonable interpretation of those policies. This approach allows for the maximum flexibility and creativity within clearly established boundaries and provides a system for delegation and accountability. (It helps also to have a manageable amount of policies – it would be much more difficult to monitor 200 pages of detailed policies! Furthermore, it keeps us out of the micromanaging realm so that we can focus on the big picture questions like 'how can the Ypsilanti Food Co-op promote the transformation of society?')

The advantages of using the Policy Governance model are:

- It enables the Board to focus on the future, and provide high-level organizational leadership rather than focusing on day-to-day operational issues. (After all, if the Board does not provide this type of leadership, who else could?)

- By deciding on the larger issues about ends and means the Board can maintain meaningful control of the organization while allowing others to decide on smaller issues.
- The Board can delegate genuine authority to others without failing in its own accountability – the parameters of delegated authority are clearly established by the Board, allowing for decisive leadership by others.
- Regular assessment of compliance with policy provides a systematic method for evaluating organizational performance because the Board knows what to look for.
- The Board and its subordinates (e.g. its committees, the GM) know what is required of them because expectations are clearly articulated. Since the design of jobs has already been decided, the Board can distinguish the proper course of action when confronted by questions without having to spend time defining the nature of governance itself.

The Board of Directors exists for the sole purpose of ensuring, on behalf of our (legal and moral) Owners, that the organization performs as it should. We must constantly evaluate our purpose -- what transformation we want to occur for people and even the world outside of our organization -- and our Ends -- the accomplishments which justify our existence. This brings us to the most important question: what difference does having the Ypsilanti Food Co-op in the world make to you?

The Policy Governance methodology was developed by John Carver as a means to structure Board process to allow for Board accountability on a meaningful level and empower the Board to lead their organizations at the highest level. The term Policy Governance is registered and protected and is often referred to as PG. Carver's website address is: www.carvergovernance.com

Last Revised: 26 September 2013

We each commit ourselves to ethical, businesslike and lawful conduct.

2. Directors must demonstrate unconflicted loyalty to the interests of the Cooperative’s owners. This accountability supersedes any conflicting loyalty such as that to advocacy or interest groups, membership on other Boards or staffs, and the personal interest of any director acting as an individual consumer or member.
  - a. There will be no self-dealing or any conduct of private business or personal services between any director and the Cooperative except as procedurally controlled to assure openness, competitive opportunity and equal access to “inside” information.
  - b. When the Board is to decide on an issue about which a director has an unavoidable conflict of interest, that director shall abstain from the conversation and the vote.
  - c. A director who applies for employment in the coop must first resign from the Board.
3. Directors may not attempt to exercise individual authority over the organization.
  - a. When interacting with the GM or employees, directors must carefully and openly recognize their lack of authority.

- b. When interacting with the public, the press, or other entities, directors must recognize the same limitation and the inability of any director to speak for the Board except to repeat explicitly stated Board decisions.
4. Directors will respect the confidentiality appropriate to issues of a sensitive nature and must continue to honor confidentiality after leaving Board service.
5. Directors will prepare for and attend all Board meetings and trainings.
6. Directors will support the legitimacy and authority of the Board's decision on any matter, irrespective of the director's personal position on the issue.
7. Any director who does not follow the code of conduct policy can be removed from the Board by a 2/3 majority vote of the remaining Board if the procedures in §6.9 of the By-laws are followed.
